Thanks to the outstanding initiative and efforts of Tanja Madžarević, the EYA Onsite Jury Meeting was brought to Sarajevo this year for the first time.

The event was hosted by IT Girls and supported by these awesome partners:

Taking the opportunity to have such a knowledgeable and experienced group of experts in the city, an EYA Impact Weekend for young, engaged youth, students and entrepreneurs from the region has been organised. 35 participants from different disciplines had the chance to talk with the international EYA experts and attended workshops but also worked on and further develop their own ideas and projects. This was a unique chance for the local community to benefit from their outstanding expertise.
IV. PROJECT GOALS & ACHIEVEMENTS

The main goal was to build a strong network in Bosnia and Herzegovina and support local youth developing digital projects with impact on society, in particular the network of IT girls.

35 young participants, mainly girls, attended the event. The different backgrounds of the participants did good to enhance their productivity, creativity and imagination when working together. There was no age limit for the participants, the working language was English. Another 30 guests joined the teams' presentation on the last day.

The EYA Impact Weekend consisted of different sessions:

Project Name: Smart Ride

Producers: Išerić Hadžera, Neira Novalić, Sara Kozić & Amina Bajrektarević

Platform: Angular

Thinking about the problems facing our community, we realized that there would be so much we could work on. With this we have decided to solve a real problem that all major cities that use public transport face. Our idea is to set up digital boards at all tram, bus and trolley stations, where all those waiting for a vehicle can see what period they are coming from. The vehicles would incorporate chips to track the movement, and on the board would show the movement of the vehicle. We would import it all with an app that could tell all users at any time when a bus or tram arrives. The return of investment is advertisements that would be repeated periodically on the app and on the board.

Also, with this application, more people will be able to track public traffic and use public transport instead of a car, therefore impact on environment will also be significant.

Less pollution, cleaner air, better conditions for transport. Smart city – smart ride.
Goal 2: Onsite Jury - Host young internationally-renowned experts in Sarajevo and organize Networking Events with Stakeholders;

18 international jury experts (see jury experts’ list below; bios can be found on: https://eu-youthaward.org/eya-jury-2019) experienced the outstanding hospitality of Sarajevo and met its young creative talents. The feedback was outstanding and these experts will act as multipliers and spread the word about Sarajevo as a hub for digital innovation in their networks.

At the welcome reception partners, stakeholders and participants had the chance to network and get to know each other. 90 people attended the reception, among them as guests of honour, Mrs. Rownak Khan, UNICEF BiH Representative/IT Girls Advisory Group Member and H.E. Johanna Strömquist, Swedish Ambassador.

Feedback from the international experts:

“I spent some exciting time with students discussing their projects, sharing the experiences, ideas and unique insights. In today’s world full of ambiguity, uncertainty and disillusionment it feels just wonderful to be working together with these passionate and confident young scholars that are becoming our future leaders and entrepreneurs. Hope and trust are two key aspects that firstly emerge in my mind after the EYA experience providing a solid ground for similar future endeavours.”

Gregor Cerinšek, University of Ljubljana, Slovenia

“Being part of the jury was a very enriching experience. To exchange with people who come from different backgrounds helps to see new projects and approaches from a different perspective. It is also wonderful to see young people dealing with very important issues that we face in the world, it reminds me (us) in times when it gets difficult to go further and try to make the world a better place no matter what!”

Michaela Altziebler, MAVOCCO, Austria

“The EYA onsite jury and Impact Weekend in Sarajevo was an amazing experience. It was refreshing to see all the young local talent and hear their aspirations and ideas. It is encouraging to see the creativity, motivation and passion the young generation has to improve the world they live in. It was also rewarding to be part of the EYA onsite jury, evaluating interesting and promising projects and exchanging views with jurors possessing different knowledge background and expertise. The jurors’ diversity makes the process so much more exciting. Of course, all these taking place in the beautiful city of Sarajevo, made the experience awesome!”

Irene Polycarpou BSc, UCLan Cyprus, Cyprus
“Digital IT girls in Sarajevo have impressed me immensely! These determined, clever, intelligent, well-outspoken, highly motivated and creative girls should be an example for every girl in Europe and beyond!”

Odeta Iseviciute, Adcanon, Lithuania

“We were delighted to keep a workshop about Customer journey design framework with Augmented Reality (AR) focus. It was such a pleasure for us to see how the young women participated fully and attentively to the workshop and created insightful AR ideas and in the process learned how to use the Customer journey tool as the basis of design thinking. It is astonishing how talented and focused the young people in Sarajevo are. It makes me happy to think that they can really shape the future of the society in the Bosnia-Herzegovina and other Balkan area.”

Pihla Rostedt, Rostedt & Co, Finland
c. Goal 3: Allow locals powerful insight into Europe’s latest trends in innovative digital projects from 59 European states & actively involve them in the Event

120 projects have been submitted to EYA19; 45 have been shortlisted and reviewed in Sarajevo. The following locals have been included in the jury:

- Maida Agić, Marketing Agency Supervisor, Obrico d.o.o.
- Nela Sladojevic, Project Advisor, International Organization for Migration (IOM)

And – as mentioned above, the following local experts were actively involved as coaches and jury members in the EYA impact weekend:

- Azra Branković, Assistant Professor | International University of Sarajevo
- Leila Hadžić, Laboratorium
- Muris Halilovic, Graphic Designer
- Kemal Koštrebić, Research & Analytics | Oslobodenje
- Miron Lukač, Lonac Hub Manager | Mozaik Foundation
- Vladimir Marić, International Business Development Manager | Mozaik
- Lejla Pljevljak-Rašidagić, VP Product Management | ZIRA
- Mirela Rajkovic, Executive Directress | South East European Youth Network
- David Saunders, UN Women Representative

Feedback from the local experts:

"I thoroughly enjoyed working with these fantastic young people to help create a new generation of IT experts in my country. We had the right mix of local and international experts working together to make them grow."

Vladimir Marić, International Business Development Manager at Mozaik

“The EYA Onsite Jury was an excellent group of people, all with great experiences and knowledge backed by invigorating energy. Valuable inputs and opinions about projects were shared during sessions, which made time fly. Having those people around young Bosnian people obviously gave them necessary wings in expressing ideas, solutions and exchange of opinions in free and creative ways. Which we witnessed during presentation of projects created by Bosnian teams (in total 7 of them!).”

Maida Agić, Communication and Marketing Expert at Orbico

"To volunteer or contribute might at first sound as a giving something away, losing some of our precious time. However, I see it as an investment. It was really good investment to be part of the team and coach at this event. Team was excellent. Energy and ideas of all participants were very inspiring. I learned many things from them and hope they’ll benefit from my experience or marketing researcher. I would be very happy to be involved again and to see these young people succeed."

Kemal Koštrebić, Research & Analytics at Oslobodenje
